

Q & A

Q: Does it hurt?

A: There may be limited localized discomfort at the injection site. This is rare, but if it occurs it is short lived. Many begin to feel relief with in 24 hours following the first injection

Q: How many will I need?

A: Every case is different and your doctor will discuss the optimal course of treatment to achieve the best results in your specific case.

Q: How much does it cost?

A: When combined with other modalities of treatment the cost is minimal and built in to your care plan. When given alone they cost a fraction of corticosteroid and other allopathic pain management injections. This treatment is not covered by insurance at this time.

Deep Roots is committed to providing first class holistic services for the entire family.

Homeopathic Trigger Point Injection Therapy

For acute and chronic pain

About Homeopathic & Trigger Point Injections

Homeopathic injections are an all-natural and very effective alternative to corticosteroid injections. We offer several injections that are specific to the pain or soreness you are experiencing, including Traumeel®, Zeel®, Lymphomyosat® and Spascupreel®. We also offer Engystol® to boost your immune system and help protect you during cold and flu season.

This treatment is used for both acute or chronic pain. It targets trigger points that develop within stressed muscles. The needle itself can stimulate them to release so that the muscle can return to normal mobility with less pain. The remedy that is injected to the site encourages healing, reduction of inflammation, reduction of swelling and pain relief.

We treat a variety of medical conditions with an integrative approach.

Homeopathic and Trigger Point Injections can be used as a stand alone treatment or may be part of a treatment program developed by your physician. These injections are usually given in a series over 3-6 weeks for maximum results. Ask your physician if homeopathic or Trigger Point injections are right for you.

Available Remedies

Traumeel

Treats pain and degeneration associated with inflammation. Injuries such as sprains, strains, dislocations, contusions, effusions of blood and effusions into a joint, fractures; post-operative and post-traumatic edema and swelling of the soft tissues.

Zeel

For joint pain and degenerative arthritic conditions such as osteoarthritis.

Lymphomyosat

Activates lymphatic drainage, reduces edema, promotes detoxification, and has anti-inflammatory actions. It promotes lymphatic drainage from the tissues resulting in elimination of toxic substances from the intercellular space.

Spascupreel

For the temporary relief of muscle spasms anywhere in the body including abdominal cramps, menstrual cramps, spasmodic cough, intestinal colic, and smooth musculature spasms
